A LACK OF APPRECIATION.

Undergraduates Show This Painfully in Regard to the Symphony Concerts.

The News has received the following letter deplored the small attendance at the concerts of the Symphony Orchestra, and urging the undergraduates to show their appreciation of Prof. Parker's efforts by attending this afternoon's concert in large numbers:

To the Editor of the Yale News:

The efforts of the faculty to give music its proper place at Yale seem to be appreciated by everybody but the students themselves. Our alumni far and near, the newspapers throughout the country, and the people of New Haven, have shown much enthusiasm over Yale's musical advances, but the undergraduates have as yet failed to respond at all heartily to what is being done for them.

A case in point is the concerts of the New Haven Symphony Orchestra, of which the second will be given this afternoon, (Thursday). This orchestra of forty pieces has been organized by Prof. Parker and is conducted by him, primarily for the sake of the college—in the desire to give every student a chance to hear really good music, at a nominal price. The orchestra is an excellent one, and shows substantial improvement with every concert; Beethoven's 2nd Symphony was very finely rendered at the first concert of the series. The admission to each concert is 25 cents. Tickets for the rest of the course may be had at the Co-op. for 75 cents.

How has this unselfish effort, involving so much expenditure of time and labor on the part of Prof. Parker, Mr. Troostwyk, and their associates, been met by the students? One hundred and twelve men have bought tickets—just one-sixteenth of our undergraduate population, while 490 course-tickets at $3 have been purchased by townspeople.

We do not seem to realize, in the least degree, the importance of attending these concerts. Interest in music and musical taste are growing in the country; it is becoming felt more and more widely, that some musical education is essential to any culture worthy of the name. The colleges are aware of this fact, and Yale has taken a leading position. She has placed Prof. Parker, a composer of national reputation and a man of great energy and enthusiasm, at the head of her department of music; she has secured an admirable music-hall, in the College Street Church. Prof. Parker has organized the Symphony Orchestra, the only one in the country supported by a college, for the purpose of helping the students to an acquaintance with the masterpieces—and 112 men out of 1,783, are willing to accept what is offered to them.

In every class there is a small number of men who enter college with a fondness for music. These men support the Chamber-concerts, join Prof. Parker's classes, and, it is feared, these men make up the small contingent who attended the last Symphony Concert. But these concerts are intended for a wider audience; they are the chief means of training the musical taste of the college at large. The Boston Symphony Orchestra gives annually ten concerts at Harvard, and the students crowd Sander's Theater to hear them. Seidl draws a large audience to the Hyperion, at $1.50 per seat. And our own orchestra, at 25 cents, attracts 112 men. It is safe to say that no other Yale organization receives such meagre support in proportion to its merits. This indifference is explicable only on the ground of ignorance of the facts. These facts I have tried to supply and I hope that Prof. Parker will hereafter receive more encouragement in his good work.

Fellowship Prize in Painting.

Students at the Art School have begun work for the William Wirt Winchester Fellowship prize of $1,500, endowed by Mrs. Jane E. Winchester. It will be awarded June 1st, 1897 to the painter of the best picture in oils of a given subject.

Competing students must have been pupils at the School of Fine Arts for at least two years before entering preliminary concours to be held two months before the final competition; the preliminary concourses to consist of making a satisfactory full-length drawing of the nude model. This fellowship is intended to enable the successful competitor to pass two years in study abroad. The prize is only $500 less than the Prix de Rome, the well-known French prize.

Symphony Orchestra Concert.

The second in the series of four concerts to be given by the New Haven Symphony Orchestra will be rendered this afternoon at College Street Church, beginning at four o'clock. Prof. Parker is the conductor and Mr. Isdior Troostwyk will act as concert master. Mr. H. Stanley Knight of New York will be the soloist. Tickets for the remaining three concerts may be obtained by students of the University at the Co-op. for 75 cents. Single admission 25 cents. The program for this afternoon is as follows:

Franz Schubert, Symphony No. 9, in C.

Joachim Raff, Concerto for piano, in C Minor, Op. 185.

Edvard Grieg, Peer Gynt Suite Op. 46.

Dr. Baldwin's Special Office Hours.

Dr. Baldwin has arranged the following special office hours this week: 9.30-11.15 A. M. and 2-3 P. M.—for the following men: Clapp, Gross, Metcalfe, W. Peck, Treat, Welch, Wilson, Andreen, Beecher, J. Brooks, D. Eddy, Fassett, Hatch, Leaky, Richards, Vaile, E. W. Whittemore, Bassett, E. Betts, M. L. Fearey, M. S. Fearey, Shrader, Sillcocks.

NEWS FROM PRINCETON.

Current Events at the University Since the Christmas Recess.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 21st, 1896.

College reopened January 2d, after the Christmas recess. The result of the Intercollegiate chess Tournament in New York was disappointing to those men in college who took an interest in it, but, nevertheless, the contest was exciting up to the last moment because of its doubtful outcome.

The Glee, Mandolin and Banjo clubs took the usual trip during the holidays. This year they visited the South and gave a very successful series of concerts, the joint concert and football game with Yale at Memphis being a feature of the trip.

The management of the track team has announced that arrangements have been completed whereby the annual spring games with Columbia will this year be held at Princeton for the first time. The improvement at the Varsity field, especially the completion of the new two-hundred and twenty yard straightaway, makes the holding of such large games much more convenient than heretofore.

Some of the preliminary arrangements for the Harvard debate have been completed. The date settled upon is March 13th and Princeton has chosen to defend the affirmative side of the question: Resolved, "That Congress should take immediate steps toward the complete retirement of all the legal tender notes." For the first time in the history of debating at Princeton post-graduates are eligible to the preliminary trials. This decision was arrived at, because no restricting rule could be agreed upon whereby both Harvard and Princeton should be confined to undergraduate debaters. The preliminary debate will take place during the second week of February.

Besides the five games of baseball scheduled with Yale sometime ago, the management has announced an additional series of five games with Harvard. Although this gives Princeton a multiplicity of important games, the general sentiment of the undergraduates is exactly in accord with the action of the management, for the advantages of this increased schedule are manifold.

Earle, the Brooklyn catcher, has been engaged to coach the team this year. He will begin his work about the fifteenth of March and remain with the team for a month.

The Bric-a-Brac, the college annual issued by the Junior class, has just appeared. Its special features are photographs of the campus, and of the Varsity field during the progress of the Harvard football game this fall.

The mid-year examinations begin this week and continue until the fifth of February.

The Junior Promenade will be held February 7th in the new Casino, preceded by a concert of the Glee club in Alexander Hall.

THE DAILY PRINCETONIAN.

Track Athletic Team.

All men who intend to train for the athletic team this year are requested to report at the Gymnasium this afternoon, between 2 and 6. The men will be divided into squads according to the events for which they are to train and systematic work will be begun at once.

The long distance men will run out of doors when the weather permits and will be divided into two squads to suit the convenience of all.

The sprinters will work on the Commons lot when the path is in condition.

The jumpers, pole-vaulters and shot-putters will do their work in the Gymnasium. Men in regular training will be allowed to use a dressing room in the athletic room next to the boxing room.

All men who intend to work should start in promptly. Names may be given to Capt. Sheldon or Trainer Murphy at the Gym.

Sheff. Freshman Canes.

The committee appointed by the Sheff. freshmen to decide upon Class Canes have awarded the contract for furnishing the same to the Rest, Fenner, Smith Company of New York. The canes are to be of Congo wood, with a crook like last year's. Just above the end of the crook will be a scroll of silver with "'98 S." engraved in open work; on the end will be another band upon which the owner's name can be engraved if so desired. The canes will cost $4.50, and can be obtained at 332 Temple and 99 Wall by the 20th of February. There will be a meeting of the Sheff. freshman class this afternoon to decide upon the number of canes to be ordered.

Dr. Scripture's Invention.

Dr. E. W. Scripture of the Psychological Laboratory has recently perfected an instrument to test color-weakness. This instrument is designed to detect the failing of certain people who can pass the usual tests for color-blindness but yet are unable to distinguish safety from danger signals on boats and railroads when the lights are at a distance or dim.

University Directory.

A complete directory of all the officers of Yale University has been published by Tuttle, Morehouse & Taylor of this city, and a copy posted in the Reading room of the Library. The Directory is very exhaustive and contains over 230 names. It is printed on heavy white paper in bulletin form, and is a most useful and desirable article.

Prof. Genung of Amherst College will deliver a lecture in the Divinity School this afternoon at 3 P. M. His subject is "The literature to which the Minister is related."

Entered as second-class matter at New Haven Post Office.

PUBLISHED DAILY DURING THE TERM.
Subscription, Four Dollars per year, payable strictly in advance. Single copies, three cts.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1896.

The undergraduate body has not yet awakened to the appreciation of some of its greatest opportunities. There is no large University in the country that affords its students anything like the musical advantages that Yale does—and yet, strange as it may seem, these advantages are not enjoyed by one-tenth of the students! Professor Parker and his assistants are exerting themselves to the utmost to build up their department, and it is but just to them that they should receive hearty undergraduate support.

One of the Symphony concerts is to be given this afternoon. The Prom. is over, Yale's guests have left and the most healthful treatment for one who is now living in memory of Tuesday night at the Armory is to try to keep his longing thoughts away from Farmington and New York by spending an hour this afternoon listening to good music! But, to be serious, it really is time for men to bestir themselves in regard to these concerts. No man who wishes to be well educated and cultured can afford to miss such opportunities as the Symphony concerts afford.

Sheff. Military Company Organization.

Captain Pettit wishes to meet the members of the Military company of the Scientific School at the Armory at 5 P. M. this afternoon, for organization and drill.

It is important that every member of the company is present.

Mission Study Class.

The class will meet this evening at 6.45 in the Semi-circular room of Dwight Hall. The subject is "Mohammedanism and Christianity Contrasted." All interested are invited to attend.

Fencing Exhibition.

There will be an exhibition of broadsword drill and fencing tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock on the main floor of the Gymnasium, by Prof. Emmentrudo and some of his pupils. It is hoped that a large number may be present and that interest in this kind of work may be aroused.

The Current Weekly.

The Yale Weekly contains in its current issue much readable news on the two incidents of Yale life which have caused the most stir among college men lately, namely, Prof. Wheeler's speech on the Monroe Doctrine and the Lit. leader, entitled "On Shams." The first article is on the Medical School, setting forth its advantages and needs, and is accompanied by a photograph of Prof. Herbert E. Smith. Harvard affairs are treated at length by the Weekly's regular Harvard correspondent, and an article on Yale's boating prospects sums up the situation in rowing.

YALE LOG.

Sophomore essays of Section B divisions 3 and 4 are due today.

The dinner of the Hartford Yale Alumni Association has been set for Friday, February 14th.

I. M. Massey, '98, has left college and gone into business with his father in Memphis, Tenn.

A fountain pen found yesterday in front of South Middle, may be had at the Co-op. on identification.

An exhibition game of basket-ball will be played at the Gymnasium this evening. Admission is free.

Answers to the Statistic Questions for the Sheff. Senior Class Book must be handed in by Saturday next.

The Yale '94 New York Club will give a dinner at the Arena, 41 West 31st street, on Saturday, February 1 at 7 P. M.

The first lesson to the class of book-keeping will be given tomorrow evening in 184 Lyceum from 7 to 8.30 o'clock.

The presidents of Ohio colleges have adopted a series of rules governing intercollegiate athletics at their institutions.

The second basket-ball team was defeated by the Waterbury Y. M. C. A. team at Waterbury yesterday by the score of 9 to 7 goals.

A fund is being raised for the establishment at Princeton of a School of Music, for the study of musical composition, theory and history.

The faculty of the University of Pennsylvania have recently passed regulations prohibiting any man from representing the University on its baseball team who has played on a summer team.

John C. Greenway, '95 S., is at the Carnegie Steel Works, Duquesne, Pa., instead of the Westinghouse Electric Company of Pittsburg, as stated in yesterday's NEWS.

All those who lent the Sophomore German committee flags or other articles which have not yet been returned to them, may obtain the same by calling at 256 Lawrence and identifying their property.

Charles B. Elliot, the first shell-builder to adopt the sliding-seat, died recently in New York of heart disease. He built shells for Yale and Harvard and accompanied the '99 Harvard crew to England.

Edward R. Godfrey, a member of the freshman class of Bowdoin College and but 18 years of age, made a record for total strength of 1,302 under Dr. Sargent's system. This has only been excelled by two college men.

Several Princeton graduates are preparing a "University Course," to visit the Azores, Gibraltar and various points of historic interest on the Mediterranean Sea and Indian Ocean. Daily lectures will be given by professors from the leading universities of the country.
